A Triple Murder.

Cincinnati, June 23.—The Commercial's special says a triple murder occurred near Gore, Logan county, this morning. John Wilded was found in a field with his head split open. His sister and daughter were discovered in the house with their heads smashed. It is supposed the murders were committed for money. No clue to the perpetrators.

The Times on Civil Service.

The Times' Washington special thinks the President's order to-day will result in reversing our entire political system, and make discreditable services heretofore regarded as meritorious.

Oakey Hall Lost to Sight.

New York, June 24.—The World has the following: Ex-Mayor A. Oakey Hall has finally succeeded in accomplishing his purpose of disappearing entirely from view, and become one of the long list of men who are in the world, but not of it. A friend of his family stated yesterday that an attempt had been made by his friends to keep him in view, not with any idea of coercing or interfering with him in any way, but to enable them, should occasion present, to render him any assistance in their power in the event of his needing it. Some three weeks ago, however, he left London for Liverpool, and in the latter city succeeded in giving his watchers the slip, and all trace of him is now lost. Various conjectures are made in regard to his course. One gentleman expressed the opinion that he has returned to New York, and is concealed in this city, but this is considered extremely improbable, as Mr. Hall is too well known to escape identification, whatever disguise he might assume. Members of Hall's family have gone to their country seat in New Jersey for the summer, and are represented as being greatly broken down under their afflictions.

Twice Acquitted.

Philadelphia, June 23.—Frank Kelly, who was arraigned for the murder of a colored man named Chase in an election riot on the 17th, was acquitted to-night. The case excited much interest, the prisoner having previously been tried for the murder of Professor Catto and acquitted. In court to-day Counsellor Lampler, who represented Kelly, called one of the Tipstaves a per urer, whereupon the judge ordered Lampler into custody, afterwards released him, saying that he would consider his case at some future day.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Cabinet Conclusions.

Washington, June 22.—The Cabinet was in session to-day a short time, and few unimportant appointments were agreed upon. Among them was Colleudar J. Lewis of Ky., to be assistant paymaster in the Navy.

A circular letter designed to prohibit federal officers from taking part in political conventions, committees, etc., has just been prepared and read, and it was determined that it should be issued without delay.

The Secretay of War presented a dispatch from Gen. Ord in regard to the trouble on the Rio Grande, just received through Lieutenant-General Sheridan at Chicago, which stated that Gen. Trevino commanding the forces of Bravo had a talk with Ord and a good understanding existed. The dispatch was received with much gratification, it being regarded as that the Mexican authorities intend to co-operate with our authorities in the suppression of raids across the Rio Grande.

Gold Sale.

The Secretary of the Treasury authorized the U. S. Assistant Treasurer at New York to sell one million dollars gold on the 28th.

Interest Payments.

The Secretary of the Treasury has authorized the Treasurer and Assistant Treasurer of the United States to commence payment of interest due the 1st prox. on Tuesday, 26th inst. without rebate.

Mail Service Ordered.

Washington, June 22.—Mail service has been placed on the following routes in Oregon: From Canyon City, Grant county, to Camp McDermott, once a week; also from Goose Lake, Lake county, to Prineville, Wasco county, weekly service; also, from Coquille City, Coos county, to Fairview, once a week.

Bond Subscriptions.

Chicago, June 22.—The Inter-Ocean's special from Washington says Secretary Sherman expects twelve or fifteen millions four per cents will be subscribed for in America by July 16, though only a million has been taken. He thinks as soon as people learn the advantages of the loan they will take it greedily.

A Terrible Threat.

The Tribune's Washington special says Hyman, colored Congressman, threatens if the President longer withholds his commission as internal revenue collector and gives him no other good office, he will go over to the Democrats and destroy the Republican party in North Carolina.

Pension Agencies.

It was to-day decided by the President and Secretary Schurz that the consolidated pension agency of the state of Illinois shall be located at Chicago, and Miss Ada Sweet retained as agent. It was also decided to retain all agents who are now in office at seats of various consolidated pension agencies, with the exception of Gen. Terrell, at the Indianapolis (Ind.) agency, whose commission has expired and who will be superceded by Gen. Kneffler.

Consul at Victoria.

Washington, June 22.—The President has appointed Allen Francis consul at Victoria, Vancouver Island, vice Eckstein resigned.

Spare Cash but no Dividend.

Washington, June 23.—The Freedman's bank commissioners have in hand enough money to declare a dividend of ten per cent. to depositors. The commissioner has determined, however, to declare no dividend at present, for the reason that ten per cent. only would be greater to the number of depositors than the amount received by them. It is the opinion of the commissioners that the institution will be finally enabled to pay about 50 per cent. of the indebtedness.

Stringent Civil Service.

New York, June 23.—The World's special from Washington says: The President will issue an order, July 1st, prohibiting all office holders from holding membership of political committees. Office holders must resign or retire from Republican committees. In looking over the lists, it is found this will necessitate the reorganization of the National Republican committee and the committees in most of the States. There is much opposition to the scheme, but the President persists.

Interest on Bonds.

New York, June 23.—The Times Washington special says: Sherman to-day directed that payment, without rebate, of semi-annual interest on 5-20 bonds, which occurs July 1st, shall commence Tuesday next. The amount to be disbursed on this account will exceed $25,000,000 in gold.

A Sensational Story about Mexico.

New York, June 23.—The Sun's Washington special says: In spite of the oft repeated denials I have cumulative evidence of an administration scheme to seize five northern states of Mexico. Agents came here early in the fall. They may have expected encouragement from Democrats had Tilden been declared elected. One of the leading spirits in the scheme was a Democrat. Several Southern Democrats were let into the secret, but whatever their expectations in this direction may have been it is certain that they soon discovered their chances were infinitely better with the other side. Immediately after inauguration and confirmation of the cabinet ex Senator Stewart of Nevada had an interview with Secretary Evarts and disclosed to him the outlines of the plan. Evarts was anxious to have all details. Thereupon, at the request of Evarts Stewart telegraphed to Gen. John B. Frisbie of California, who had been here during the winter as one of the leading spirits in the enterprise, to come forthwith to Washington. He came in response to this summons and had a long interview with Evarts and disclosed to him all plans. The plan was approved by Evarts, and Frisbie was encouraged to such a degree he immediately returned to his home at Vallejo, California, and after arranging his business he left quietly and is still absent. The following telegram shows the belief of his neighbor as to Frisbie's whereabouts:

San Francisco, June 22, 6 A. M.

Gibson, Sun Bureau, Washington, D. C.—Telegram from Frisbie's home, Vallejo, says he is believed to be in the City of Mex co. C. D.

With annexation these states will not only obtain stable government, but two great railroad companies, the Texas Pacific and Central Pacific, of California, will immediately compete with each other in building lines to the same or different ports on the Pacific coast.

I betray no confidence when I say everybody at the state department thinks a difficulty with Mexico is imminent. Mexicans now here are also satisfied the administration has designs on their country.

Evarts and the Mexican Question.

Washington, June 23.—In conversation with Secretary Evarts this afternoon, your correspondent called his attention to the Washington dispatch in to-day's New York Sun, charging him with secretly conducting or promoting schemes for the dismemberation of Mexico, and the extension of our boundary beyond the Rio Grande, the Secretary read the first part of the article with the appearance of amusement which changed however to indignation as he progressed towards its conclusion. When being asked whether he was willing to say anything on the subject he replied no. I'll not go into that matter. It is not worth while to contradict such stories. For as soon as one is set at rest, a fresh story is invented to take its place the next day, remarking with recovered good nature, "you know the newspapers must have their say," then turned the conversation to other subjects.

Assistant Secretary Seward was busily engaged as usual with current business of the department, but took time to read she Sun article, and to remark that such stories were mere moonshine. It may be added that President Hayes a few days ago declared there was not a shadow of foundation for that report, that the administration desired either by force or by diplomacy to obtain any portion of Mexican territory. The fact seems to be that holders of Texas depredation claims, and filibustering soldiers of fortune reinforced by mining speculators and a certain class of politicians out of employment have combined to revive the old annexation scheme and are trying to create public sentiment in its favor by making it appear to be a part, though it is not a part of the administration's policy of vigorous resistance to Mexican border raids. Some color is lent to their claims of co-operation on the part of this administration by its continued refusal to recognize Diaz, but on the other hand even if there were no other considerations opposed to annexing more Mexican territory, the fact that such annexation would give greater political power to the South and would unquestionably be unpopular in many portions of the North, is sufficient to make the adoption of such a policy, by a Republican administration, extremely improbable.

The San Francisco Pension Office.

Hart's appointment as pension agent at San Francisco will hold good for consolidated Pacific coast agency, from and after July first. Mosely was suspended in consequence of his being heavily in default.

An International Nuisance.

New York, June 23.—The Herald's Washington special says Sitting Bull has become an international nuisance. Correspondence is being exchanged between Canada and Washington looking to the return of Sitting Bull and his followers to America, where they belong. Canada objects to his presence among the friendly Blackfeet. The subject, however, is full of difficulties.

Federal Appointments.

Washington, June 23.—G. Wiley Wells of Mississippi, will be appointed Consul General of the United States to China.

Joseph Savage Arms to-day appointed Revenue Storekeeper for the First California or San Francisco District.

Evarts Makes a Pun.

Washington, June 23.—Secretary Evarts is credited with saying to Bret Harte and another literary applicant for foreign appointments, "Literary men can get laurels on their brows, but they cannot browse on their laurels." Bret is living conveniently near the State Department.

The Mormon Difficulty.

Washington, June 23.—The Secretary of War in a letter to Gov. Emery of Utah, asking military reinforcements in that territory, says the military authorities have carefully investigated the subject and while not believing that the Mormons contemplate violence or resistance to lawful authority, it is deemed proper to allay apprehensions expressed in letters from there. The administration desires and proposes, by all legitimate means, to aid the proper authorities in the preservation of peace and protection of the rights, the enforcement of laws, etc., to this end, to increase the military force as may be practicable, will be made in due time. Gen. Sheridan hopes this summer to be able to increase the garrisons at Camp Douglas and Fort Cameron. If necessary to occupy additional points in the territory, Congress must first make an appropriation. General Sheridan does not fear any serious outbreak, but troops are available to send on intimation of such a thing.

Office Holders' Duty in Elections.

Washington, June 23.—The President today addressed the following circular letter to all prominent federal officers throughout the country:

Washington, June 23, 1877.

Sir:—I desire to call your attention to the following paragraph in a letter addressed by me to the secretary of the Treasury, on the conduct to be observed by officers of the general government in relation to elections: "No officer should be required or permitted to take part in the management of political organizations, caucuses, conventions or election campaigns. Their right to vote and to express their views on public questions, either orally or through the press, is not denied, provided it does not interfere with the discharge of their official duties. No assessment for political purposes should be allowed. This rule is applicable to every department of the civil service. It should be understood by every officer of the general government that he is expected to conform his conduct to its requirements. Very respectfully,

R. B. HAYES.

The Chicago Times says it is not nepotism now, but Ohioism. Master of Ceremonies—"There is another office vacant. Will some Ohio gentleman step this way?"

THE WAR IN THE EAST.

Preparations for Crossing the Danube.

London, June 22.—In addition to the bridge constructed in front of Ibrail, which is from 700 to 800 yards in length, with an extension upon inundated Turkish territory, the Russians have built a large number of rafts which have been towed to-day into an arm of the stream, where the two monitors were sunk. In addition to their own gunboats the Russians continue to employ all merchant vessels detained in port. Seven wooden sloops, moreover, have been iron plated during the last few days. Each carries two guns and will hold two hundred men. Should nothing be changed between now and to-morrow all will be finished by the time this dispatch is printed. For the last week, however, changes have been continued so that nothing is certain. It is expected that the greater part of the fourteenth corps will have crossed in twenty-five hours and will receive the Czar, who is to arrive Saturday. Such is the purport of orders which Gen. Zimmerman sent to his troops at two o'clock Thursday. This document was been ready for some days, but notwithstanding the impatience of the Czar, the General refused to cross the Danube because he considered that he was not ready. On Sunday last the Emperor announced his coming, and ordered the passage to be made. The General asked further delay. On Wednesday the Czar again announced that he was coming. Gen. Zimmerman then went to Ploiesti and succeeded in inducing his majesty to postpone his visit until Saturday. The Russians at Ibrail are fifteen thousand strong.

Opposite Ibrail the Danube is divided into two channels by a large island. This has probably enabled the Russians to construct a bridge unobserved. It has been known for some time that Turkish monitors have been completely barred out of this section of the river by torpedoes. The crossing near Ibrail, according to general opinion, is only a subsidiary operation to the main crossing further west, probably between Alato and Vode rivers.

Ibrail, June 22.—The Russians have constructed in all a thousand rafts and pontoons, chiefly in the river Sereth, of which a large number are being used at Ibrail, but leaving enough for a bridge at Galatz also. Each raft is separately towed to its position, nearly a hundred feet up stream from the bridge. The anchor is cast and the current sweeps the raft swiftly down alongside the one previously fixed, to which it is made fast, while a steadying anchor is carried out below. For several days back working parties of about five hundred men, in crossing the river, every morning have been engaged in raising above the reach of inundation a road leading along the bank of the old Danube from Getcho toward Matchin. About three quarters of a mile has thus been made good, but there remains nearly five miles to Matchin, the raising of which must take time. Yesterday a detachment of Cossacks made a reconnoissance towards Matchin and got pretty close, but were half drowned in the attempt. When attacked, Matchin will be assailed both by land and water. The Turks have made no sign of hindrance. Two small camps are visible above Matchin on the hights. All day yesterday infantry, forty-at a load, were being ferried over from Galatz to a patch of hard ground opposite, whence by a winding path it is said the hilly country is attainable. If this be so, crossing here seems to indicate a turning movement against Matchin. About 40,000 troops are now in Ibrail and Galatz.

The First Crossing.

Bucharest, June 22.—A force of Russians have crossed the Danube on the pontoon bridge at Galatz and are fortifying a tete depont on the Turkish shore. There was no fighting, as a wide expanse of marsh still separates the combatants.

Crossing the Danube.

London, June 23.—A telegram from Ibrail announces that 5,000 Russians crossed the Danube from Galatz yesterday and took the heights behind Seinezilla near Matchin. The Turks have abandoned Matchin. A sufficient number of Russians have crossed to establish themselves solidly. They are not entrenched. A Bucharest dispatch says the Turks are destroying the line of railway between Tesmanoda and Matchin. It is rumored that there are indications that the Turks will not defend the Dobrudscha.

Ibrail, June 23.—The Russians on landing on the Turkish bank of the Danube penetrated directly into the interior behind the hills, gaining possession of the heights commanding Matchin, after an obstinate fight with a body of Bashi Bazouks. The engagement lasted from daybreak until noon. The capture of Matchin is imminent.

London, June 23.—Big at weeks of the campaign have left the main body the Russian forces still on the north bank of the Danube, but the decisive movement has begun already. A sufficient Russian force has crossed at Ibrail to start a Turkish retreat from the Dobrudscha. It is not supposed that the main body of Russians will cross in this neighborhood, but the the Russian purpose is to demonstrate there a sufficient force to cut the Kustendji and Tchernavoda railroad. This accomplished, it is expected the Russian gunboats will advance up the river co-operating with the land forces on both sides of the stream to drive off the Turkish gunboats, and thus obtain abundant room for a safe and sudden crossing of the entire Russian army. It is suspected also that another column will be dispatched to drive the Turks from Isaktchi and Tultcha, which, if successful, would enable the Russians to close Sulina pass, the only channel by which large vessels can ascend the Danube from the Black Sea.

The Herald's London war news states that the building of the bridge at Galatz partakes of the nature of a feint because the great body of troops has crossed into Dobrudscha at Ibrail. The arrival of the Czar at Ibrail was the signal for beginning of the conquest of Dobrudscha. The heights commanding the river as far up as Hirsova will be seized within the next few days. Only two corps, embracing between 55,000 and 60,000 men will cross at Ibrail. The 14th corps, without its cavalry division, numbers 21,000. The reason for sending so few troops into Dobrudscha is that because of the barrenness of the country it cannot be relied upon for furnishing sustenance.

Entrance of Matchin.

London, June 23.—A telegram from Ibrail dated to day says the Russians entered Matchin to-day, the Turks having abandoned it. The Russians continue crossing the Danube by a constructed bridge and steamers.

Austro-Montenegrin Relations.

Vienna, June 22.—Since yesterday Austrian troops have lined the Montenegrin frontier with strong detachments. Women and children are flying in numbers to Cattars.

Anglo-Russian Diplomacy.

New York, June 22.—A special from London to the Times says it is rumored that the British Parliament will vote an extraordinary credit of £10 000,000 for military exigencies. Interviews of great importance have recently taken place between Schouvaloff, the Russian ambassador, and Earl Derby, in which the latter asked the former to put on paper the assurances in regard to Constantinople, which were made verbally and somewhat vaguely. The ambassador telegraphed to his government for instructions and received a dispatch from the Russian Foreign office empowering him to do so. Russia will propose a temporary occupation of Constantinople, undertaking to evacuate the Turkish capital on receiving indemnity for expenses of the war and proper guarantees that the reforms proposed for the administration of Turkish provinces shall be faithfully carried into operation, and the proposition involving the sacrifice of the Turkish maritime force in the Black Sea will be rejected by Great Britain. The question of the temporary occupation of Constantinople has been discussed at several cabinet councils already without in any instance coming to a decision. An arrangement has been effected by which England, with consent of the Khedive and not in opposition to the Sultan, shall occupy Egypt. England is to settle the time when the movemen shall be begun. A British force is already told off for occupation and will be under command of Gen. Sir Thos. Steele. It will consist of 20,000 men. Not only are troops ready but the camp and all other necessary arrangements have been made in Egypt.

The Situation in England.

Edinburgh, June 22.—A London correspondent writes as follows: The situation is certainly grave anxiety. I learn, on good authority, that the cabinet has arrived at decision of the utmost moment to the peace and interests of the country. The exact nature of the undertaking to which the government stands is, of course, unknown, although there are rumors in military circles of the probable dispatch of an expedition any force to Gallipoli. It is said the Duke of Cambridge expressed himself in favor of sending 60 000 men, while Mr. Hardin, secretary of war, thinks half that number will be sufficient.

The War Party Gain Point.

Chicago, June 22.—The Tribune's special from London says the cabinet has apparently made a temporary but not unexpected decision after daily meetings for over a fortnight. Where serious divisions existed among members it is now evident the war party has gained an important point in securing the occupation of Egypt, thus allowing England to preserve a pretense of neutrality yet manage to be ready for an emergency calling for active hostilities against Russia. This seems to be the programme. Now we expect to hear hourly that the Russians have crossed the Danube.

Recapture of Bayazid.

London, June 22.—An Erzeroum dispatch confirms the report that Bayazid has been recaptured by the Turks. The Russian garrisons were driven out and some made prisoners. It believed an engagement on a large scale between the Russian left and the Russian right is imminent.

Suleiman Pasha and the Montenegrins.

London, June 23.—A Cettinje correspondent of the Times telegraphs under date of yesterday as follows: Suleiman Pasha advances very slowly. The road is obstinately contested by the Montenegrins. I have no doubt myself that he will succeed in getting through, but with very grave losses. According to the latest consular reports, he has some 20,000 regulars and some 5,000 to 8,000 irregulars, against whom Prince Nicholas can only oppose 8,000 or 10,000 men. The fight ing is represented very sanguinary, but the Turks can only return now with danger and will push forward regardless of losses.

The convent of Ostrok was burned this morning. An attack is announced on points of the southern frontier.

The total number of Turkish forces now operating against Montenegro is about 60,000.

A telegram from Ragusa dated yesterday says the fighting near Ostrok ceased yesterday. The Montenegrins occupy an entrenched position, which prevents the advance of Suleiman Pasha. Prince Nicholas, with another corps, is entrenched at Cerrova, south of Ostrok. Ali Saib is expected to attack Danilograd to-morrow, with the object of affecting a junction with Suleiman Pasha. Should this operation succeed, both armies will march upon Cettinje, while Lieutenant General Mehemet Ali will march down from Vassojevich to cover their flanks. All Montenegrins in Herzegovina are returning to their defense.

Marching on Cettinje.

Constantinople, June 23.—Official announcement is made that the Turkish divisions operating from Herzegovina against Montenegro successfully effected a junction at 6 o'clock this morning and are now marching upon Cettinje.

The War in Montenegro.

Cettinje, June 23.—Montenegrin officials accounts admit that Suleiman Pasha and Ali Saib's forces have effected a junction, and say it was after six days' continuous fighting, in which the Turks lost 5,000 men.

A Battle in Progress.

Constantinople, June 23.—Intelligence received to-day announces that Mukhtar Pasha has been engaged since Thursday with the Russian army at Tatkhodja between Khorassor and Dulibaba. The battle was proceeding all day yesterday; result unknown.

A Turkish Victory.

Constantinople, June 23.—A telegram from Mukhtar Pasha states that the Turks attacked, on the 20th inst., the Russian division encamped at Hilitatz. The fight lasted until night fall. The Russian division was driven in two and fled in disorder.

The Porte's Reply to Derby.

The Porte's reply to Lord Derby's note in reference to the Suez canal was dispatched on the 20th inst. It is understood that the Porte accepts the principle of the free navigation of the canal by neutral powers, but reserves the right of fighting enemies' vessels.

Derby to Schouvaloff.

London, June 24.—A Parliamentary paper was issued to-day containing the text of Lord Derby's letter to Count Schouvaloff respecting the interests which the English government would feel themselves bound to defend, and Prince Gortschakoff's reply to the points of which were published on the 8th inst.

The Egyptian Prince.

Prince Hassan of Egypt leaves for Vienna to-night. The Sultan presented him yesterday with a sword of honor.

General War Notes.

Constantinople, June 22.—The Porte is preparing a note to the powers upon true ties committed by Russians in Caucasus and at Ardahan. The Porte is stated to be in possession of proof that Ardahan was surrendered by treason.

The special mission sent to the Emperor of Morocco with a firman from the Sultan demanding military assistance is understood to have been without result.

Athens, June 22.—Letters received here from Constantinople state that the Turkish War Department is destitute of funds. The execution of any contracts is therefore suspended.

Athens, June 22.—The Porte not having replied to the demands of the Cretan Assembly, has closed its session. The Christian Deputies have forwarded a protest to the governor and foreign consuls and returned to their homes. Villages in the vicinity of Rethymnos refuse to pay taxes.

The English military attache was so received by the Grand Duke as to render his remaining with the Russian army very uncertain.

Berlin, June 21.—At a military council in Vienna at which Gen. Maliinary and Baron von Ratich were present, it was resolved to strengthen the forces in Dalmatia to about 5 000.

Paris, June 23.—It is stated that the steamer conveying the gigantic Krupp gun, which was exhibited at Philadelphia, to Russia was grounded near the Island of Ossil.

Ploiesti, June 23.—Grand Duke Nicholas receives the English attache, Col. Wellesley, very brusquely. He put forth a stipulator as to the condition of his accompanying the army which must stamp him as an independent representative of England. His freedom of action would be supervised strictly, and he was warned it was expected he should not testify in an unfriendly spirit. Col. Wellesley remains at Bucharest, presumably awaiting instructions from him.

Attitude of the Powers.

That British officers anticipate the entirely successful of the Russian strategy is conclusively shown by its renewed alarm for its Indian interests and the steps taking to protect them. There are some who believe that the ministry are only sharming alarm, while in fact laying a secret understanding with Russia that England is to take her share of the spoils by making a descent on Egypt under pretense of necessity for protecting the Suez Canal. If the British corps of observation, publicly understood to be destined for Gallipoli at the north estuary of the Dardanelles, should be

RIGOROUS JUSTICE.

In Pennsylvania, as in California, there is stern enforcement of law. The Chico outrages are punished, and the crimes at Pottsville have met a terrible expiation. The Molly Maguires in Pennsylvania are a lawless order, like the political organizations in the southern states which have carried their ends by violence and blood. Coal declined in price, and wages were reduced; then labor combined against capital by means of unions; inside the unions an organization was formed which ruled them by secret plots, procured the assassination of men who had incurred the displeasure of the order, and filled the whole community with terror. Men driven by want to work at the reduced rate were murdered for it by this secret society. Great mobs marched to and fro stopping the collieries whenever the leaders gave the word. For a time the order largely controlled local politics. The terrible secrecy in which many of the assassinations were involved gave general alarm. It was a power which seemed to defy detection, and society was powerless because it knew not how to move against it. At last a detective got inside the order and plans were laid by which its members were entrapped and made to divulge its secrets. The detective himself has disclosed nothing to the public. It has been so managed that he has been supposed one of the criminals. He has even been imprisoned with them, to all appearance as guilty as any with whom he seemed to be associated. Sixty in all have been punished; about a dozen with death, and the remainder with terms of imprisonment proportioned to their share in the crimes of the order.

Though the law will admit no justification for crime, yet there is excuse in the plea for these men that the reduction of wages was below the limit of endurance, and their combinations against it were an effort to which necessity drove them. From this rightful position they could without much difficulty be led to a further step. Men of clear perceptions would not take it; but to those who think confusedly, and who give themselves up to a sense of wrongs which they suppose they are suffering at the hands of others, it would be a natural thing. To them the dividing line between right and wrong, innocence and crime, was, at this place obscure. It was easy, therefore, for them to persuade themselves that it was right to employ any instrument whatever to resist the oppression felt. From their point of view assassination became justifiable. Some who have been hanged were so infatuated with this idea that they tried to set it up as a defense; and others could not conceive how they should be held guilty of murder, because, though they were proven to have incited it, yet they did not themselves perpetrate the deed.

These people supposed they were simply contending for the right to work on fair terms for bread. If no excuse can be accepted for homicide under such circumstances, how much less is the excuse that can be offered for men who perpetrate this crime under political passion and for political objects! The country is not likely to forget that the Mississippi murders, committed in open day by men fully known, are suffered to pass without the slightest effort to punish them. There is striking contrast between the rigor of justice of Pennsylvania and the insensibility to justice in Mississippi.

NOTA BENE.

President Hayes is plainly a traitor. He has now delivered the most terrible blow the party has yet received. An order is issued commanding the office-holder to withdraw from the management of party affairs. If this order be enforced the people will be at once deprived of their natural leaders. Nobody will know what to do. Who will fix up primaries, organize caucuses and control conventions? There will be none to arrange nominations for the legislature, so as to ensure the re-election of the people's favorite senator. It is about equivalent to an order withdrawing such senators as Mr. Mitchell from the field of politics and from all prospects of future usefulness. Senators who have been arranging and distributing the offices with a view to their own advantage for coming elections find all their plans and purposes upset at once. Treachery like this is enough to break up any party.

In still another way this order tends directly to the disorganization of the party. It forces the resignation of every member of national, state, county and city committees who happens to be an office-holder. What a hardship this is will be understood when it is remembered that in many cases the committees have been organized so as to put them in the hands of office-holders, or under control of official influence, so that senators and their friends and supporters could more readily control the movements and organization of the party. In many cases this has been accomplished with infinite labor and difficulty; and now it is all overturned. Disintegration is sure to follow. Take our own state. The order deprives the party of the services of postal agent Steel as chairman of the state central committee, and likewise of the services of several county members of said committee. It also ruthlessly removes steamboat inspector Lotan from the chairmanship of the county (Multnomah) committee, and probably makes similar havoc in other parts of the state. What can the president mean by thus knocking the party organization into smithereens? Surely if he knew how much trouble it cost, what anxious prevision, what careful and adroit wire-pulling and patient watchfulness of opportunity, to get the committees fixed all right, he would not thus spoil the fruits of skillful labor. We leave it to the Standard to say whether this is not an alarming step toward centralization. It seems clearly an invasion of the sacred domain of state rights, when the central government thus invades a state and deposes the leading members of the committees of one of its political organizations.

The party, we suppose, will have to submit to the loss of its leaders with what grace it can. Some will be placed in a position terribly trying to their patriotism. They will be forced to elect between their positions on the committees and the salaried offices they hold; but in the end patriotism may be relied on to prevail over party, and they will remain in the official service of their country. But it will be a little rough on our friend Simpson, for instance, who has been accustomed to turn up in conventions from Benton, Union, or Curry, as the party might need him. Still, Republicans generally will not quite despair. They will probably attempt to reorganize the broken committees and to carry on the party. But it will seem a cold and hollow world when they are obliged to get on at primaries, caucuses and conventions without the earnest and able leadership to which they have been accustomed. We commend to the chairman of the state committee and others interested, a careful perusal of those dispatches of to-day. Perhaps, however, "influence" may be brought to bear at Washington to get the order revoked or suspended for this state. But the contraty may be feared, and to save trouble to the gentlemen who are within the scope of the order, it may mildly be suggested that it would be prudent for them to resign from the committees and let the president's policy have full course in Oregon as it is having in Louisiana and South Carolina.

THE SENTIMENTAL POLICY.

Indians understand the sentimentalism of the government perfectly. Those now in arms in Idaho well know that all they have to do is to keep out of the way for awhile and kill a few more soldiers, when the government will be ready to treat with them and grant full immunity and pardon for the massacres they have perpetrated, as a condition of surrender. Such of them as may want to quit now know too that they can easily come round to the reservation by the back door, enter unrecognized, and never be identified. Government will dignify this outbreak, and massacre with the name of war, and will treat with a miserable squad of savages as belligerents, entitled to the protection afforded by the laws of war. This the band well knows, and will play the knowledge handsomely. If the Indians had supposed they would fall into the hands of the people instead of into those of a government which is controlled by humanitarian moonshine, this outrage never would have occurred.

At a public meeting in Wasco county a few days ago, resolutions regarding the Northern Pacific land grant were prepared and adopted. Extension of time was demanded for the company, but on condition that the land shall be sold by the government to settlers, and the proceeds transferred to the company to be used in the construction of the road. Also that the price shall not exceed $1 25 an acre, and that in cases where, by the operation of the railroad grant, homesteads have been limited within such grant to eighty acres, any person shall have the right to eighty acres more; and further, that equitable relief be afforded to such as have paid $2 50 an acre. A committee was appointed to draft a petition and solicit signatures in Oregon, and in Idaho and Washington territories, setting forth the above positions and asking for them the consideration of Congress.

According to dispatches received by us which if published in full would make columns, the movement for the relief of the sufferers by the St. Johns fire, in all the principal cities of the Union, is upon the usual munificent scale of American generosity, and the sums already contributed mount up to hundreds of thousands. The dispatches also report repeated attempts by incendiaries to fire the remaining portion of the unfortunate city. A number of suspected persons are under arrest and one man caught in the act of applying the torch was only saved from being lynched by the courage of the mayor, who stood guard over the prisoner with a drawn revolver.

At length the Russians are crossing the Danube. Pursuing the track of former campaigns they are crossing at Ibrail, intending to sweep around the bend of the river and take Sillistria and other fortresses in the rear. It will probably be impossible for them to bring any considerable body of Turks to battle in open field. Letters from correspondents of English papers explain that the delay in crossing the Danube was occasioned by the very unusual wet weather which caused the whole basin of the lower river to be overflowed during the entire months of April and May.

Advices from different parts of Ohio, according to the New York Times, are to the effect that the Republicans will go into the fall campaign without a division. The canvass of the gubernatorial question thus far has plainly developed the fact that they will support no one who antagonizes Mr. Hayes. The expression is general that the southern policy was an experiment that had to be made sooner or later, and that Mr. Hayes was in as good a position to make it as any president could be.

In a day or two the sub-committee of the United States senate will be in Portland. Our citizens should give these distinguished men a suitable reception. An effort should be made to afford them the best possible opportunity to see our state, so as to enable them to obtain a correct impression of it. No doubt prominent citizens will see to it that their stay in the state is made an agreeable one.

We have a column or two more of dispatches relative to the Hilton-Seligman quarrel. But they contain nothing new, and nothing worth notice, except the statement that the Eastern press and public now consider the whole affair a personal quarrel that has no significance except for the parties engaged in it. To give it further space seems quite unnecessary.

The St. Paul Press asserts that in certain western states, including Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois, any scheme of finance or currency is sure of wide popularity, which will enable the debtor class to cheat their creditors. Hence, it says, the popularity of the greenback and the silver dollar.

MONDAY MORNING, JUNE 25,

CITY.

STEAMER HASSLER.—The steamer of the United States Coast Survey, here from San Francisco last Saturday, and now lies anchored off the foot of Taylor street. She is officered as follows: Commander Coffin commanding ship, Lieut. Drake, Lieut. Barbee, Clover, Lieut. Mitchell, Paymaster Driggs, Lieut. Rhodes, Dr. Boone, Chief Engineer Rhodes, Dr. Boone, Symonton, draughtsman. The Hassler left San Francisco about two weeks since, stopped at several places coming up, including Crescent City and Port Orford. She is now here on Wednesday to make soundings on the bar at the mouth of the Columbia. Capt. Gus M. Jessen, the efficient coxswain so long in command of the Shubrick, is employed on the ship as pilot.

ILLUMINATING MT. HOOD'S SUMMIT.—"Occasional," writing from The Dalles, says: "The Mt. Hood party from here are going to be at Summit prairie on July 2d, as heretofore published. It is still their intention to go and carry up light, inflammable materials and light on the evening of July 4th; and if it may not be possible to get up enough wood things even to make a fire, we will take a fire. They can be seen from Portland, or anywhere up the valley, and will do just as well as if they did make the ascent. Some of those who have been up speak so 'poohpooh' of the attempt, that I, too, cannot help but feel every confidence in the result."

NEW ALARM BOX.—Application was made several weeks ago to the common council for authority to place a fire alarm box on the corner of Morrison and Fifth streets, as one of the most prominent places in the city. Owing to the proximity to the postoffice, the authority having been given, the box will be put up to-day under direction of Chief Engineer Lyon. It will be numbered 21, and the signal from that box will consist of two strokes of the bell, a long pause, and one stroke. This evening at 7:30 o'clock the test will be made. No alarm need be apprehended by reason of the big bell being struck.

ARRIVED.—Mr. O. V. Gerzabek, who represents the house of A. C. Dietz & Co., wholesale dealers and importers of paints, oils and varnishes and lamp stock, No. 224 Front street, San Francisco, arrived from the south last Saturday, and is stopping at the Ainsworth House. The house which Mr. Gerzabek represents was established in 1851, and is one of the oldest and largest on the Pacific coast. The firm is also agent for the celebrated Seal, St. Louis, Brooklyn and New Orleans. Mr. G. will remain in the city a few days.

CAMPMEETINGS.—Rev. Thomas L. Sharp, of Darton, Yamhill, sends the following notice: "Will you please publish in your paper that a campmeeting to commence July 5th on the Webfoot M. E. camp ground, to last eight days. There is a good church edifice on the grounds, into which we can retire in case of rain. All are invited." The campmeeting at Ames chapel, East Tualatin circuit, will commence on Friday, July 13th, and continue during the following week. All ministers are specially invited. A large attendance is desired.

CORRECTION.—The last sentence in a card of "thanks" to L. C. Henrichsen, published in our Saturday's issue, should have been punctuated in accordance with the original manuscript, as follows: "The spirit and the manner appreciated—remembering the child and teaching them to love their country, which, next to the worship of God, is the grandest emotion of the human heart."

DEPARTED.—After a week of intense suffering, Maude, youngest daughter of George T. and Sallie S. Myers passed into that land where troubles are unknown. Maude departed this life early yesterday morning and leaves a host of little as well as older friends to mourn her early loss. The parents have the sympathy of their friends in this sad hour of bereavement.

BRIEF NOTES.

"Overland route."

Ye fruitful showers.

One year ago yesterday, the roaring Willamette had reached its highest point.

There is one redeeming quality about a quiet. It is within the reach of the feebleminded.

It may be feared that many prayers which are sent to Heaven are put on file for future reference.

If the weather continues pleasant, the Christian Sunday School picnic will take place to-morrow.

"Solitaires are well enough in diamonds, but when it comes to pancakes man reaches for clusters."

"What did you get?" she asked as he returned from a two days' deer hunt. "Back," was the cool reply.

The Ladies' Social Union of the Taylor St. M. E. Church are preparing for a steamboat excursion to the Cascades, on the 4th of July.

When a man gets so fat that he can scratch himself between the shoulder-blades he ought to be shot to prevent the spread of calamity.

Under the new postal law you are permitted to write your name, preceded by the word "from," on the margin of the newspaper you send to your friend.

Strangers will know the custom house, which is the postoffice and other government offices are located, when they observe the custom flag flying over that stone building in the western part of the city.

AMUSEMENTS.

DRAMATIC ATTRACTIONS.—New Market Theater was jammed to overflowing last Saturday afternoon at matinee, and a more appreciative and delighted audience is seldom seen. Saturday evening another large audience greeted the sixth and last presentation of the very attractive and sensational play of "Tour Around the World in 80 Days." The play has met with a measure of success, and in respect to popular favor and financial which was not anticipated, and the management has reason to feel greatly encouraged over the dramatic season recently inaugurated. This week a series of attractions will follow each other in rapid succession. This evening the to-morrow evenings the great sensational play of "Overland Route" will be presented with a strong cast, including the full strength of the large company, and all the scenic effects and stage accessories. This play has had a long run in the East, and attracted great attention in theatrical circles. It will no doubt prove a "winning card" with the Portland public. Wednesday evening, "Under the Gaslight," with full cast. Thursday evening, "Eileen Oge" will constitute the attraction. Friday, "Boarding School," and the week will close with "Oliver Twist."

FROM PORTLAND TO CELILO.

A FLYING TRIP TO CELILO AND THE DALLES—WONDERS TO BE SEEN ON THE UPPER COLUMBIA.

PORTLAND, June 23, 1877.

Early on Wednesday morning we wended our way to the O. S. N. Co.'s steamer Oneonta, on a voyage of discovery to the Upper Columbia, whose fame as a route for tourists had reached unto remote parts of our heritage, even unto California—that land given over to boasting of its own supposed unrivaled attractions, of the neatness and consequent comfort enjoyed by such birds of passage as rest tired wings upon this little gem of river travel. We found an agreeable party intent on

"DOING" THE CASCADES AND DALLES,

Consisting of our whilom fellow-travelers per steamer Geo. W. Elder—Capt. Meyers and family, of the firm of Rodgers, Meyers & Co.* of San Francisco; Mr. and Mrs. Hall, of New York; W. S. Clarke, of Massachusetts, correspondent of the New York Tribune; Mrs. Mark King and daughter, of Portland; Mrs. W. K. Leveridge, of San Francisco, and your humble correspondent. After presenting our credentials to worthy Captain Wolf, of the Oneonta, we were rewarded by the seat of favor, having spread before us a good wholesome breakfast, to which we surely did ample justice, with an appetite sharpened by this early morning constitutional. When refitting our satchel for this flying trip we hesitated between supplying ourself with rubbers and a fan, having been advised, before we left the "Bay," that we should require both in Oregon. But the morning advanced to meridian, and then counted its rosy hours down to the warning sunset gun, with the record of a perfect day,

HOOD FOLDED IN A ROBE

Of everlasting purity lifted his bared brow up into the high heavens, placed beyond a base of wood-crowned ranges, which seemed as steps to the throne of Deity, while before us palpitated the broad, tideful Columbia, peaceful and glistening as a silver sheen. World over the people of Oregon are noted for their true soul hospitality, which expresses itself in the warm grasp of the hand, and the glance of the eye, and this being our first visit among its genial inhabitants, we marvel much in our mind if the weather which contributed so much to the pleasure of our party, had not been "made to order." It was our good fortune to meet with Dr. McKay, who gave us much valuable statistical information, by calling attention to points of settlement on the river's course which seems morable in the history of Oregon. Having become familiar with a report of tourists' trips on the Columbia river, and acquainted with many of the illustrations which have appeared in various journals, we confess to an undeniable sense of disappointment in beholding

"CAPE HORN," BELOW THE CASCADES.

Had its altitude approached "Castle Rock," our expectation had not been so rudely undeceived, but surrounded as it is by the, appallingly sublime mountain scenery amid which it is placed, awakens our surprise that so much that is loftier and more picturesque should be passed by these couriers which bring to our stay-at-home bodies views and records of Nature's handwriting, as traced in her wondrous geological mysteries.

AT THE CASCADES

We tie up at the "wharf boat," boarding the cars, when the iron horse with the cloudy mane and breath of fire takes us for a wild race through a wealth of bloom and freshness, which was doubly dear to eyes which oftimes have hungered to gaze on trees, and shrubs, and vines that recalled the woods and dells of New England. The early Indian raids were recounted and incidents recalled which come home with startling force, as we stand to-day upon the highway over which so many brave men are passing to the scene of the recent outbreak. At the Upper Cascades we found the

MOUNTAIN QUEEN, CAPT. M'NULTY,

Ready to convey our party along another stage of our journey, and here I wish to say to the world in general, and the Navigation Company in particular, that, in our opinion, the boat is indeed "queen" of all river craft above Portland; capacious, cleanly, exquisitely arranged, and above all, so free from the usual discomforts experienced on small steamers, that when we reverse our trip to the Dalles, the stay on the Mountain Queen will remain a bright vision of content and unalloyed enjoyment. As we scanned the bald eagle's nest, high up in a tall cottonwood, at Mount Hood river, we were told that these birds have returned to the identical nest for 15 years to rear their young. We must over the quaint Indian graves at Mamalcose Island, and we wondered at earth's strange face, when this still, broad river ebbed along the water washed benches, hundreds of feet above its present level, quarrying from the volcanic hills, forts, citadels, ramparts and bastioned entrenchments, to defy the teeth of decay.

AT THE DALLES,

We took a special train for Celilo, where we spent a pleasant half-hour looking over the pretty little steamers Almota and Annie Faylon, under the courteous guidance of William McDonald, agent at this place of the O. S. N. Co. Returning just as the day was declining, we were spell bound as our train sped along under the frowning pile of Jove's petrified thunderbolts, called "Cape Horn," near Celilo, and was soothed and satisfied to find that in all our travels for 120 miles along the Upper Columbia, that just here, spread out a scene, (somewhat familiar) from Nordhoff's sketches, as Mt. Hood appeared almost in the track of the sunset, soft y outlined in the further horizon. Back to the Mountain Queen for a night's slumber, and to-morrow we retrace the steps with reluctant feet, launching our fate upon that swift rolling tide which will sweep us to the sea, in the embrace of its cool waters.

TO THE DIRECTORS OF THE O. S. N. CO.

Capt. Wolfe of the Oneonta, Capt. McNulty of the Mountain Queen, officers of the boats, and others for courtesies received, we desire to tender through the columns of the OREGONIAN the grateful thanks of yours most cordially.

"VIERGE."

WASHINGTON, June 22.—Senator Mitchell to-day received the following telegram from the governor of Oregon:

SALEM, June 21, 1877.

Ask the Secretary of War to instruct the commander of the Military department of the Columbia to supply the citizens of Oregon, in the vicinity of the Indian hostilities, with arms and ammunition from Vancouver Arsenal, on requisition of the governor. The citizens of Walla Walla are in danger of attack, and have applied to me for ammunition. The state has none.

S. F. CHADWICK.

The Secretary of War has instructed Gen Howard to answer the requisition of the governor to the full extent of the law, which allows 500 stands of arms to citizens.

BOISE CITY, June 23.

Judge Kelly of the Idaho Statesman, who left here Monday, the 18th inst., to take arms to the people of Weiser valleys, returned to-day, and reports the people of those valleys have left their farms and nearly all are assembled at a point in Lower Weiser valley, near Defrees, where they are constructing a fort. Weiser valley is directly on the line of Indian travel between northern and southern sections, and very much exposed to Indian raids. A number of Indians, professing to be friendly, are now encamped near the upper settlements on the Weiser, and many others are known to be roaming through the mountains. This is nothing unusual, as they have always been allowed to leave the reservations and go where they pleased. They have profited by the opportunity given them to become thoroughly acquainted with the condition of settlers and prepare themselves for what course they might choose to take. They are generally well armed, while the neglect of the government has left the country exposed to whatever they may choose to do. The people are without arms and virtually defenseless. Capt. Robbins, with eight men, left this morning to go to the relief of the people shut up in the stockade fort on Slate creek. At Middletown, 50 miles from here, he will join Lieut. Gray, with 22 men. The other 21 men of the party, volunteering here, are obliged to remain behind on account of a scarcity of arms, ammunition and means.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 23.—A press dispatch from Boise City says: Hon. Thomas E. Logan, mayor of Boise City, and Hon. I. N. Costin, member of the legislative council, who left here yesterday for the purpose of visiting the Indians encamped on Great Camas Prairie, 50 miles southeast of this place, returned at noon to-day, accompanied by 14 of the principal chiefs of the Indians there assembled. There are now encamped in the locality about 1,500 Indians of both sexes and all ages, embracing members of the Bannack, Shoshone and Yellow Stone tribes. Logan and Costin went to Willow creek, 40 miles distant, where they found a party of Indians encamped. They made known their object, ascertained the disposition of the Indians and their intentions. The Indians were asked to send forward their best riders to the main camp, and request the principal chiefs to meet the commissioners at Willow creek. The Indians complied, and soon the chiefs made their appearance. An interview took place, which revealed the fact that these Indians had been visited by emissaries from the Nez Perces and hostiles in the north, and that a portion of them had been considering whether to remain friendly to the whites or to join the hostiles. This came out incidentally, the Indians professing all the time the utmost friendliness to the whites and a determination to remain faithful to former treaties and pledges. The commissioners then induced the chiefs to accompany them to Boise City and have a talk with the Governor. James Dempsey, an Irishman who has been long with these Indians and understands their language, came with them as interpreter. Upon their arrival in town, the chiefs met the Governor in the executive chamber, where an interview took place in the presence of Logan, Costin and several citizens, the result of which is not yet ascertained.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 23.—In the interview between Gov. Brayman and the Indian chiefs Major Jim, chief of the Bannacks, was the principal speaker. After having assured the Governor that the Bannacks and Shoshones were friendly towards the whites and would render no assistance to the Nez Perces in the present outbreak, in reply to a question as to what his people proposed to do during the summer, Major Jim replied:

"We go to Montana to hunt buffalo, to get something to trade for food for our little ones. Indians are like whites; they do different things to get the means of living. Your people make farms and fence up all the country, and the Indians have their farm too which is merely a prairie, where our women dig roots to feed them and the children. White men drive too many hogs and cattle up in the prairie which eat up the roots and camas, and destroy the plant; we cannot live without food, and camas roots has always been our food. When the camas is destroyed our children will suffer from hunger. Fuller, agent at Lemh', takes blankets which are sent to us from Washington and cuts them in two; then gives us half of a blanket and sells the other half. Donaldson, agent at Fort Hall, is always angry with us and treats us roughly. He strikes us with the whip like Fuller, and sells the good horses from the reservation and puts poor Indian ponies in their places. We wish to have these agents taken away and good honest men sent to us. We do not like Fort Hall; it is too cold; nothing will grow there. We want to go to the Camas prairie and live with Fort Hall reservation, so that we can live there in summer to dig camas. We never sold or gave away Camas prairie. We had nothing to do with any treaty which would take it away from us."

Hen Dempsey, interpreter, explained that Fort Hall reservation was separated from the Great Camas prairie by a barren country one hundred miles in width. Capt. Jim said:

There are three reservations for the Bannacks and Shoshones, Washkee reservation on Wind river, Fort Hall reservation and Lemhi reservation. There is but one reservation for the Bannacks, one for the Shoshones and one for another tribe, but the Bannacks and Shoshones may live together upon one or the other; a dog with three homes has no home. We would like to have one reservation rather than three.

Some further conversation occurred in which the Indians complained feelingly of the dearth of food upon the Camas prairie, when a liberal contribution was made by the gentlemen present for the purpose of purchasing food for the Indians to take home with them.

WASHINGTON, June 23.—General McDowell telegraphs the War Department to-day that he cannot learn that the uprising has gone much beyond Joseph's band and the immediate vicinity. However, how far it may go cannot be known. News from Howard is meagre, he reports the loss of Lieut. Theller and thirty-three men. I send all the cavalry in the Department of California by McDermott to Boise City, Idaho, as Howard wishes his column to be at least 300 strong.

According to General Howard's dispatches one band of Indians engaged in the Salmon river massacre fled northward toward the Spokane country. The other, as already stated, went south toward the Weiser.

Governor Brayman has issued the following proclamation:

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, IDAHO TERRITORY,
BOISE CITY, I. T., June 18, 1877.

Major Collins, U. S. A., commanding at Fort Boise, has official information and orders of this date, from General Howard, at Lapwai, through Colonel Grover, at Walla Walla, that hostile Indians are in arms, murdering and ravaging, and as far as reported have killed twenty-nine settlers in the neighborhood of Lapwai, and are on their way, over one hundred strong, to southern Idaho, by the Salmon river and Weiser valleys, pursued by U. S troops. Major Collins has orders to intercept them. Being without adequate force he applies to me for aid. It is well known that the legislature of Idaho has thus far refused to enact laws organizing the militia—leaving the governor without authority to command the necessary aid, or appropriate money or arms to the public defense.

Yet the public safety requires, and I take the responsibility of calling for one hundred volunteers, to report at once to Major Collins, at Fort Boise—to be enrolled for temporary purposes; to be furnished with arms and equipments, and supplied with provisions for the expedition, and to march to-morrow morning under his command.

It is hoped that by a prompt movement the savages may be intercepted, and our settlements rescued from peril.

It is necessary that each man furnish his own horse and its equipments.

As to compensation for this particular service, the governor has no authority of law to bind the United States or the territory. Such service is usually provided for by Congress through the War Department.

The best men only are wanted; as many as possible who have seen rapid marching and gallant fighting, and are acquainted with the country.

M. BRAYMAN, Governor.

Letters from Lewiston and Lapwai.

Several letters were received Saturday at the military headquarters in this city from officers, extracts from which we have been permitted to make, through the courtesy of Col. H. Clay Wood:

LEWISTON, June 20, 1877.

Our boat has just arrived (6 A. M.) and I hasten to give you particulars in brief. We had much conflicting and so many improbable rumors all the way up that I thought it best to wait until I got here before writing. Perry has had a hard fight and has lost about thirty men. Lieut Theller was with him and was killed, but Perry, Trimble and Parnell are all right. They have been supplied with ammunition and food and have entrenched themselves. The Indians embrace Joseph and White Bird's bands. The Indians were the aggressors. The news reached Fort Lapwai like a bolt out of a clear sky, that the settlers about Mount Idaho were being murdered by Indians. The most reliable accounts place the killed (citizens) at about 33 or 34, and Perry, I just learn, reports 30 of his men killed or missing. I suppose you have received official dispatches ere this giving particulars. The alarm along the river did not seem excessive. We saw many at Almota last night who had come in from the Palouse settlements, but we learned that many had already gone back to their farms about Colfax. They say there is no danger to be apprehended from the Spokanes or Coeur d'Alene Indians; in fact, that the several chiefs of these bands had signed a letter of friendly assurances to the citizens, at the instance of the priests at the missions, declaring in substance that they would stand by the citizens and protect them against any Indians. Lieut. Theller was shot three times when he said to Major Trimble, who was helping him on a horse, that it was no use, that he would die in a few minutes. The fight commenced about 20 miles from Mount Idaho, and Perry is entrenched near that place. The citizens here like to have us here. Warrens diggings are the nearest mines, yet the whole country about is saturated with gold, silver and precious metals, which time and labor alone will yet develop, when many perhaps will sleep beneath Mount Idaho.

People who neglect their minor ailments rarely live to make old bones. The secret of hale and vigorous old age, lies not only in taking care of one's health in early life, by the observance of sanitary rules, but also by judicious medication when the premonitory symptoms of bodily disorder manifest themselves. Indigestion, bowel and liver complaints, are fruitful causes of injury to the constitution. These diseases should be, therefore checked without delay. The best medicine for the purpose is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. This standard preparation disciplines the digestive organs, gives new renewal impetus to the bilious secretive functions, and exerts a beneficial influence upon the organs of urination. It has no rival as a remedy for and preventive of chills and fever, and bilious remittents, infuses vigor into the debilitated frame and lends excellent appetizer and nervine.

Flashing in their pearly sheen,
From the glorious coralline,

May beauty's mouth be garnished!

RELIGIOUS INTELLIGENCE.

CONGREGATIONAL ASSOCIATION.

The Congregational Association of Oregon and Washington Territory met at Seattle on Thursday, the 21st of June.

On calling the roll, fourteen churches were found to be represented by eleven ministers and twenty-five delegates, while seven others were invited to sit as corresponding members.

A permanent organization was effected by the election of Prof. C. F. Collier of Salem, as Moderator; Rev. M. Eells of Skokomish, W. T., Secretary, and Mr. G. H. Himes of Portland, as Assistant Secretary.

The first part of the afternoon was occupied with hearing reports from the various churches.

Eight hundred and thirty-five members were reported, one hundred and ten of whom were added during the past year. Fourteen hundred and fifty persons were reported as enrolled in the Sabbath schools, and about $11,500 contributed for various purposes, about $900 of which was for benevolent purposes. Two new ministers have come to the country since our last meeting, Rev. J. W. Harris of The Dalles, and Rev. J. A. Cruzan of Portland.

An essay on the work of the American Missionary Association was read by Rev. M. Eells, recommending the work of that society to the churches, of giving an educated Christianity to the negroes, Indians and Chinese in the United States.

Rev. E. O. Tade, of Antioch, California, spoke of a former work of his as superintendent of schools at Chattanooga in Tennessee. He spoke of the deplorable state of morals among the colored people and the effect of Christianity on them, especially with reference to intemperance and tobacco, and the radiating influence of this work to other states as well as Africa.

Rev. E. Walker related an incident of his own experience showing the constancy of the Spokane Indians during the Cayuse war of 1847, owing to their Christian instruction.

Father Stewart related an incident of the effect of Christianity on negroes with reference to tobacco from his own experience.

Further discussion in regard to the Indians was postponed until Saturday.

In the evening Rev. D. B. Gray preached on the subject of "Our Work and its Reward."

Second Day.

The Oregon Home Mission Society reported, through its treasurer, that it had received from the churches over $200, besides quite an amount which had been sent to the parent society in New York. All of the money received by the Oregon branch is expended within our limits, with no expense for the salary of its officers. Sixteen hundred and twenty-five dollars, besides the above amount, have been received for the benefit of our churches from our parent society. Dr. Atkinson, its general missionary, was warmly thanked for his services in the past, and he was warmly recommended for the same work in the future. He has traveled about 5,000 miles during the nine months of the past year, while his health allowed him to labor, and regularly supplied five churches, irregularly supplied two more, and omitted two others for want of ability to visit them. It was recommended that for the coming year the churches endeavor to raise one dollar per resident member.

A very interesting and impressive report on foreign missions was read by Mr. S. Greene, and in the discussion which followed constant, systematic giving, and giving which costs an effort, was urged. Reference was also made to the Japanese students who graduated at Forest Grove last year.

A resolution was adopted recommending that one prayer meeting every month be devoted to the subject of missions, and another urging the organization of woman's missionary societies in our churches.

In the afternoon Rev. P. S. Knight read an essay on the business relations of the churches, in which it was very strongly recommended that the business of churches be carried on according to strict business principles. In the discussion which followed the success of the Portland church, with its envelope system, was referred to, and the hope expressed that the credit of churches might be made equal to that of saloons, by strict honesty.

BAPTIST ASSOCIATION.

The Mt. Pleasant Baptist Association of Eastern Oregon and Washington Territory held its annual session with the church at Pilot Rock, in Umatilla county.

This body now numbers eleven churches, three having been received into its connection at the present meeting, namely, Pendleton, in Umatilla county, Colfax, from W. T., and Zion's church, from the Palouse country in Idaho territory.

The association covers an area of 150 miles square and has one of the most important fields for missionary work and planting of new churches which the denomination occupies on the coast.

The association was well attended and harmonious in its business and plans. Arrangements were made to put a missionary in the field under the direction of the missionary committee appointed by the body. They have one missionary laboring on part of the territory, supported by the Home Mission Society, who has done a good work this year, and will continue his work the next year, Rev. S. E. Stearnes of Colfax, W. T. Two of the churches added to the association this year were the result of the labor of this man.

The churches composing this body are interested in and fostering all departments of missionary work.

The meeting was visited by Rev. S. S. Martin, of Roseburg; Rev. Mr. Marvin, of Rogue River Association, Southern Oregon; and by Rev. J. C. Baker and wife, of California.

Missionary sermons and addresses were delivered during the session, and a "circle" organized at Pilot Rock and Pendleton by the ladies, to promote Christian work among heathen women and children—a work in which the ladies of this denomination are extensively engaged, having raised and expended last year nearly $50,000, by each woman belonging to the societies paying one dollar a year.

Rev. J. H. Martin, of Dayton, W. T., preached the introductory sermon, and was elected moderator of the association, and Rev. W. H. Fruett, of Weston, Oregon, clerk. The next meeting of this body will be held at Weston.

CANADA.

Laborers Plot to Blow up a Ship.

NEW YORK, June 22.—A Montreal dispatch says several reckless ship laborers, loaded with drink, yesterday went to a number of powder dealers and endeavored to purchase several cases of dynamite, offering to pay cash. Dealers refused to sell unless they brought orders from responsible parties. It is discovered to-day that there was a design to blow up steamships whose agents had refused to pay the wages demanded. Sir Hugh Allen, mayor, the chief of police and the city attorney had a consultation at noon in regard to turning out the military. Arrangements were made to read the riot act and turn them out in case of necessity. Mignault, labor agent, and a friend, while returning through Saint Surolice street from taking a gang to work on the steamer Peruvian, were set upon and nearly killed. One O'Neill, the ringleader, was arrested. Great excitement prevails. The police are under arms on the wharves.

A Canard.

OTTAWA, June 22.—With regard to the dispatch announcing a murder at Rocky Mountain camp of the Canadian Pacific surveying party, it is stated no such camp exists.

OAK GROVE, WASCO COUNTY.

The Mountaineer has a letter from the above place, from which we extract the following:

Taking in that already settled by persons at Oak Grove, the plain is about twenty miles in extent, and contains somewhere near 60,000 acres of level bunch grass land. About 10,000 acres is now in possession of Oak Grove farmers, leaving 50,000 acres open to settlement, three-fourths of which is estimated as number one farming land. Taking each farm at 160 acres it will give room for about 240 farmers, and reckoning five persons to a family, 1,200 additional population to the county. I examined, by getting down off my horse, the nature of the soil. It is a friable, loamy, rich earth, now covered with bunch grass, which was knee high around me, and last year's stalks measuring to my waist. I judge the ground is rich from its grass producing qualities. It looks much better than the soil on many farms that are now producing good crops every year. An abundance of good timber for fencing and building can be found within ten miles at the farthest of any part of the flat. Scattering junipers within a short distance will provide fire wood for some time to come. My friend, Mr. Butler, has lately erected a steam saw mill where plenty of good lumber can be had for from $10 to $12 per thousand feet. Mr. Jos. Shearer has a grist mill where a market can be found for quite a large quantity of grain, and flour for family use and sale will be made. Three good schools are established within five miles of the flat—Tygh Valley, Warmack settlement and Oak Grove. This land is all open to settlers either as pre emption or homestead with the exception of a small portion on the west side unsurveyed. The only drawback to its settlement is scarcity of water, but lately water has been found and if sufficient encouragement be given, by settlement to R. Grant & Co., who have about 1,600 in an incompleted ditch, will complete it.

OREGON.

Several parties have been taking rock out of the Virtue mine in Baker county, and crushing has begun again.

A. J. Lawrence, of Baker, who occupied a seat in the legislature during the last session, set out for Arizona last Thursday. He has a full week the start of the Morton committee.

The story of the horrible murder on the Blue mountains, was a canard got up for a purpose. The Sentinel ought to expose the parties who brought the pretended information.

On the 12th inst. a man named Mathew Coy was drowned while bathing in Rogue river, about 12 miles from Ellensburg. His body was not found at last accounts. He leaves a large family.

Salem Mercury: Kinney Bros., at the Salem Mills, are buying $1 10 for wheat, with very little offering. Our local buyers are paying 25 cents per pound for good wool, which is coming in quite freely.

Letter from Scholl's ferry, Washington county: A great many Germans are coming into this section of the country, and land is "looking up." Should those worthy people continue coming to our state in such numbers, I don't know but we will all have to study the language of the "Faderland."

Turner grange has extended an invitation to the adjoining granges to meet them in a picnic on the 4th of July at Turner. The invitation has been accepted by Salem, Jefferson and Rock Point granges. Each grange also was requested to furnish a speaker, and Judge Boise will appear for Salem grange.

Yamhill Courier: Lafayette is fast filling up with immigrants. In fact there are not enough vacant houses to accommodate them, some having to camp out. They all seem to be of the working class, and to the credit of our people be it said, that work has been furnished them, and we do not know of a late arrival who is now idle.

The election for city officers at the Dalles took place on the 18th. There was but one ticket in the field, and the result was as follows: Mayor—Col. N. H. Gates; city council—Messrs. George A. Liebe, Thomas Gordon, A. Bettengen, George Williams, N. W. Chapman; treasurer—Captain L. Coffin; marshal—Samuel Klein; recorder—James A. Campbell.

TERRITORIES.

Last year the indebtness of Pierce county, W. T., was reduced $1,000. It now stands $4,782. The assessed value of that county last year was $1,117,790.

Vancouver Register: This fall, if things continue Russian in Europe, we are going to make ourselves rich from our two or five acres of grain. Pah! for Clarke county.

Methodists will erect a new church building at Tacoma. Five hundred dollars have been collected for the purpose, and two hundred more will make a handsome meeting house.

Steilacoom has 23 counts in the Fourth of July indictment, commencing at sunrise with a national salute and ending with "Home, Sweet Home." All kinds of sports are sandwiched between.

The Olympia Railroad Construction Company have taken upon themselves to complete a subscription list of at least $15,000 before attempting an initial movement in the work of grading and tying the road. About $12,000 now pledged.

The Mountaineer prints the following list of the number of sheep in the Klickitat valley and to whom they belong: Waldron & Co., 10,000; Short & Gilmore, 1,300; Phillip Michell, 400; Geo. Smith, 800; Bruce Purdy, 200; Daniel Young, 900; Linder & Inabrie 2,250; John Saxton, 1,147; B. D. Butler, 1,200; Mead & Ford, 1,430; Charles Brune, 175; Mr. Fleck, 320; Mr. Stapleton, 480; Mr. Bailey, 875; Mr. Dodge, 900; Mr. Chapman, 600. Total, 23,977. This does not include this year's lambs, which will probably increase the number one-half.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

Financial.

SATURDAY EVENING, June 23, 1877.

Legal Tenders in Portland—buying 94; selling, 95.

Silver Coin—4@5 per cent. discount.

The Business Situation.

NEW YORK, June 23.—The bank clearings of leading mercantile centers for the week ending June 16th, compared with a year ago, show considerable increase of transactions only at New York, where it is due chiefly to stock speculations, and New Orleans, where it is due to enormous speculations in local securities. The aggregate returns show an increased dullness of trade. Boston, St. Louis and Pittsburg are the only cities at which substantial improvement appears. St. Louis holds its own; Bath and Cincinnati show a per centage of loss less than average decline in prices. The encouraging feature is that the improvement is in important manufacturing centers, and the situation therefore has become hopeful for labor. Thirty per cent. of the $360,500,000 legal tenders now outstanding is in the treasury in the various funds, while foreign imports at this port, ever since March, have exceeded those of last year. The exports for the week ending with June 11th were $1,400,000 less than in the corresponding week of 1876.

English Crops and Markets.

LIVERPOOL, June 22.—The leading grain circular says wheat trade throughout the country remains depressed and stagnant. Growers' deliveries are approaching the minimum, but supplies arriving from abroad are apparently sufficient to prevent the diminution of home stock, which two months ago was so confidently expected before this time in all markets. This week prices were again lower on spot. Since Tuesday the few parcels pressed for sale have been in buyers' favor. Maize is firm. This market to-day was rather steadier, through from the limited number of buyers business was moderate, and trade closes at full prices of Tuesday for good, and fine class. Wheat was slow of sale and unchanged.

The Wheat Market.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 22.—Liverpool market a penny lower. Shipping here $2 12½@2 17½, milling unchanged.

Boston Wool Market.

BOSTON, June 23.—The Boston Wool Market has been excited. The past week's sales comprised 3,000,000 pounds; market almost bare of fleeces. a few lots have been received, but scarcely enough to establish prices; sales of Ohio, 70,000 pounds, including X and above, 32@37½c, medium 29½c, choice 37@39½c; sales of Michigan, 75,000 pounds at private terms; combing and delaine in good demand, sales 60,000 pounds washed 50@55c, 61,000 unwashed 35@41c, including choice Kentucky at highest figure; pulled wool in good demand, stocks sold up close; low pulled wools seem difficult to place; transactions of the week included 380,000 pounds super and X 28@40c, principally at from 35@40c; lot of 20,000 pounds combing pulled sold at 47½c. 70,000 pounds 40@42½. Texas continues to attract attention; sales of the week 29,000 pounds 17@37½c. California has been quite active, sales of spring amounting to 15,911,500. The bulk of sales was been in a range of 30@35c; very little fall on the market, and the only sales of this description were 46 000 pounds at 18c.
